What is DriverTech's recommendation as far as Yard Move and Personal Use.

Q: What is DriverTech's recommendation as far as Yard Move and Personal use.

A: As ELD mode is enabled drivers will be considered on the drive line if they move their truck and reach a speed in excess of 5 mph. We suggest that either Personal Use, Yard Move, or both be enabled so that drivers in certain situations hae options to make small moves while on a Break, Load, etc.

This is, of course, optional, but we do believe that this would assist you and your drivers going forward.
